And everything else! I find just that the tariff and the financial question alone would bring relief, but that both must be secured by the Democratic party and both must be made prominent in the Democratic platform and canvass.

PUT YOURSELVES IN HIS PLACE.

If you were the President of the Alliance, and the Democratic press was making war upon you on that account, would you not be the man to be holding up your hands? Then why abuse Col. Polk for doing what you would do if you were in his place? It's a poor rule that will not work two ways.

Col. Polk is doing nothing more nor less than any other honorable man, Democrat or Republican, would do under the same circumstances, and Allianceman would be unworthy of the name if they did not stand by him and defend him from the assaults made up on him. Webster's Weekly.

THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

NATIONAL BANKS.

But few people have carefully considered the true methods of banking; hence an example may be of some importance. Mr. A. has $1,000, which he deposits in his bank, for which he receives a certificate of deposit. Mr. B wishes to borrow some money, is loaned $750 of Mr. A's deposit, and $250 is put on side by the bank as the required reserve. Mr. B pays this money to Mr. C on a debt, and Mr. C deposits it in the same bank. Mr. D wants some money, and is loaned three-fourths of the $750 deposited by Mr. C, or $637.50, and $187.50 is put as reserve. Mr. E pays this money to Mr. F, who deposits it in the bank. Mr. F wants to borrow some money, and is loaned three-fourths of Mr. E's deposit, or $421.88, and $140.62 is put with the reserves. Mr. F pays this to Mr. G, who in turn deposits it in the same bank. Mr. H wants some money, and is loaned three-fourths of the money deposited by Mr. G, or $316.41, and $105.47 is laid aside as reserve. Mr. H pays this money to Mr. I, who deposits it the same as the others have. Now comes Mr. J, who borrows three-fourths of Mr. I's deposit or $230.31, and $87.90 goes to the reserve fund. Mr. J pays his debt to Mr. K, who returns the same to the bank on deposit. Mr. L borrows three-fourths of it as the others have, or $177.98, and the other one-fourth, $59.33, is held as reserve. Mr. L pays this to Mr. M, who likewise deposits it in the same manner. Mr. N adds some money, and borrows three-fourths of Mr. M's deposit or $183.49, and again $44.49 is put with the reserves. Mr. N pays this to Mr. O, who in turn deposits it. Mr. P, as has the others, borrows three-fourths of Mr. O's deposit or $101.02, and $33.37 is held as reserve. Mr. P pays his debt to Mr. Q, who puts it in the bank. Mr. R borrows three-fourths of Mr. Q's deposit or $75.09, and $25.03 is put with the reserve fund. He pays Mr. S, and Mr. S deposits the same, and Mr. T borrows three-fourths of it, $56.22, and $18.77 is put with the reserve. The several transactions resulting from the repeated loans of the original deposit would stand as follows:

Total	$2,831.10	Total	$943.68
A's loan	$750.00	Reserve	$250.00
D's loan	562.50	Reserve	187.50
F's loan	421.88	Reserve	140.62
H's loan	316.41	Reserve	105.47
J's loan	237.31	Reserve	79.10
L's loan	177.98	Reserve	59.33
M's loan	136.22	Reserve	45.00
P's loan	101.02	Reserve	33.37
R's loan	75.09	Reserve	25.03
T's loan	56.22	Reserve	18.77

Total $2,831.10 Total $943.68

Multiply this transaction by 100 or 1,000 or more, and the business of an average bank is ascertained. Consider well these figures. On A's deposit of $1,000 the bank has loaned $2,831.10 and has $943.68 in cash remaining in hand. Upon this tottering foundation rests the entire business of the country. The deposit account is as follow:

Mr. A	$1,000.00
Mr. C	750.00
Mr. E	562.50
Mr. G	421.88
Mr. I	316.41
Mr. K	237.31
Mr. M	177.98
Mr. O	136.22
Mr. Q	101.02
Mr. S	75.09
Mr. T	56.22

Total $1,000.00 Reserve $250.00

Mr. G. has called himself Miss Danvers (her middle name) did as Mrs. Lamotte promised, and that lady began:

"I am a widow, as of course, you perceive by my mourning. My poor Arthur died five years ago, and left me this estate and a comfortable income. My only brother is a bachelor, and spends his winters in the city, but his summers with me. I expect him here next week. He is wealthy and much sought after, and I have had a terrible time protecting him from the snarls set for him by every old maid and young miss, in the neighborhood. I had one pretty governess, and I firmly made up my mind that I would never have another. There shall be no more running round the garden moonlight evenings and calling buttonholes. Do you know Miss Danvers. I had a son, the only boy, named Garfield, and he was a great favorite with all. I had the very best of plans for him, but he was not strong, and he had enough of trouble. I suffered from nervous apprehension all the time Miss Garfield was here. Another week the silly thing would have been my brother."

"I don't think I shall trouble his peace," said Lucille languidly, in a weary laugh at Mrs. Lamotte's interruptions. "I am sure you will not wonder in a moment that we are not in Egypt."

"I am sure you are not," said Geoffrey, with a smile. "I am sure you are not."

Build For Eternity

compose it, scientists, Christians and Indians have demonstrated that the being who planned the pyramid must have known the world's sphericity, and that its motion was rotatory, and how many miles it was in diameter and circumference, and how many tons the world weighs, and knew at what point in the heavens certain stars would appear at certain periods of time.

Not in the four thousand years since the putting up of that pyramid has a single fact in astronomy or mathematics been found to contradict the wisdom of that structure. Yet they had not at the age when the pyramid was started an astronomer an architect or a mathematician worth mentioning. Who, then, planned the pyramid? Who superintended its erection? Who from its first foundation stoned to its capstone erected everything? It must have been God. Isaiah was right when he said in my text, "A pillar shall be at the border of the land of Egypt and it shall be for a sign and a witness." The pyramid is God's first bible. Hundreds, if not thousands of years before the first line of the Book of Genesis was written, the lesson of the pyramid was written.

THE SIGN AND SYMBOL OF ETERNITY.
Well, of what is this Cyporean mass? a sign and a witness? Among other things, of the prolongation of human work compared with the brevity of human life. In all the four thousand years this pyramid has only lost eighteen feet in width, one side of its square at the base changed only from seven hundred and sixty-four feet to seven hundred and forty-six feet, and the most of that eighteen feet taken off by architects to furnish stone for building in the city of Cairo.

The men who constructed the pyramid worked at it only a few years and then put down the trowel and the compass, and the square and lowered the derrick which had lifted the ponderous weights; but forty centuries have their work stood, and it will be good for forty centuries more. All Egypt has been shaken by terrible earthquakes and cities have been prostrated or swallowed, but that pyramid has defied all volcanic paroxysms. It has looked upon some of the greatest battles ever fought since the world stood. Where are the men who constructed it? Their bodies gone to dust and even the dust scattered. Even the sarcophagus in which the king's mummy may have slept is empty.

So men die, but their work lives on. We are all building pyramids, not to last four thousand years, but forty thousand, forty million, forty trillion, forty quadrillion, forty quintillion. For awhile we wield the trowel, or pound with the hammer, or measure with the yardstick, or write with the pen, or experiment with the scientific battery, or plan with the brain, and for awhile the foot walks and the eye sees, and the ear hears, and the tongue speaks. All the good words or bad words we speak are spread out into one layer for a pyramid. All the kind deeds of malvolent deeds we do are spread out into another layer. All the Christian or un-Christian example we set is spread out in another layer. All the indirect influences of our lives are spread out in another layer. Then the time soon comes when we put down the implement of toll and pass away, but the pyramid stands.

The twentieth century will not rock it down, nor the thirtieth century, nor the One Hundredth century. The earthquake that rocks this world to pieces will not stop our influence for good or evil. You modestly say, "That is true in regard to the great workers for good or evil, and of gigantic geniuses, Miltonian or Tallyrandian, but not of me, for I live and work on a small scale." My hearer, remember that those who built the pyramids were common workmen. Not one of them could lift one of those great stones. It took a dozen of them to lift one stone, and others just wielded a trowel chipping it on the hard edge, or smoothing the mortar between the layers. One hundred thousand men toiled on those sublime elevations.

If one of those granite blocks that I just touch with my foot on this December morning in 1859, as the two Arabs pull me and the two other Arabs push me, could speak out and tell its history, it would say: "The place of my nativity was down in the great stone quarry of Mokattam or Assuan. Then they began to bore at my sides, and then to drive down great iron wedges, crushing against me till the whole quarry quaked and thundered. Then I was pried out with crowbars and levers, scores of men putting their weight on the leverage. Then chains were put around me, and I was hoisted with wheels that groaned under the weight, and many workmen had their hands on the cranks and turned until the muscles on their arms stood out in ridges, and the sweat rolled from their dusky foreheads."

"Then I was drawn by long teams of oxen, yoke after yoke, yoke after yoke. Then I was put on an inclined plane and hauled upward, and how many iron tools, and how many human arms, and how many beasts of burden were employed to get me to this place no one can tell. Then I had to be measured and squared and compassed and fitted in before I was left here to do my silent work of thousands of years. God only knows how many hands were used in getting me from my geological cradle in the quarry to this entombed state of innumerable ages."

AWFUL RESULTS OF LITTLE SINS.
My hearers, that is the autobiography of one block of the pyramid. Cheops didn't build the pyramid. Some base mason in the world's twelfth didn't build the pyramid. One hundred thousand men built it, and perhaps from first to last two hundred thousand men. So with the pyramids now rising, pyramids of evil or pyramids of good. The pyramid of drunkenness rising ever since the time when Noah got drunk on wine, although there was at his time such a superabundance of water. All the saloonists of the ages adding their layers of ale cans, and wine pitchers and rum jugs until the pyramid overshadows the great Sahara desert of desolated homes and broken hearts and destroyed sterities. And as the pyramid still rises, layers of human skulls piled on top of human skulls and other mountains of human bones to whiten the earth, and add to the heavens, hundreds of thousands of people are building that pyramid.

So with the pyramid of righteousness. Multitudes of hands are tolling on the steep banks, infantile hands otogenesians, masculine hands, female hands, strong hands, weak hands. Some clanging a trowel, some pulling a rope, some measuring the sides. Layers of psalm books on top of layers of sermons. Layers of prayers on top of layers of holy sacrifice. And hundreds of thousands coming down to sleep their last sleep, but other hundreds thousands going up to take their places, and the pyramids will continue to rise until the millennial morning gilds the completed work, and the toilers on these heights shall take off their aprons and throw down their trowels crying, "It is finished."

Your business and mine is not to build a pyramid, but to be one of the hundreds of thousands who shall ring a trowel or pull a rope or turn the crank of a derrick or cry "To, leave!" while lifting another block to its elevation. Though it be seemingly a small work and a brief work, it is a work that shall last forever. In the last day many a man and woman whose work has never been recognized on earth will come to a special honor. The ecumenical council, now in session at Washington, its delegates the honored representatives of fifty million Methodists in all parts of the earth, will every session do honor to the memory of John Wesley, but I wonder if any of them will think to twist a garland for the memory of humble Peter Bohler, the Moravian, who brought John Wesley into the kingdom of God.

I rejoice that all the thousands who have been toiling on the pyramid of righteousness will at last be recognized and rewarded—the mother who brought her children to Christ, the Sabbath teacher who brought her class to the knowledge of the truth, the unpretending man who saved a soul. Then the trowel will be more honored than the scepter. As a great battle was going on, the soldiers were ordered to the front and a sick man jumped out of an ambulance in which he was being carried to the hospital. The surgeon asked him what he meant by getting out of the ambulance when he was sick and almost ready to die. The soldier answered: "Doctor, I am going to the front. I had rather die on the field than die in an ambulance." Thank God, if we cannot do much we can do a little.

REMEMBERED—AND FOR WHAT?
Further, carrying out the idea of my text, the pyramid is a sign and a witness that big tombstones are not the best way of keeping one's self affectionately remembered. This pyramid and the sixty-nine other pyramids still standing were built for sepulchers, all this great pile of granite and limestone by which we stand today, to cover the memory of a dead king. It was the great Westminster abbey of the ancients. Some say that Cheops was the king who built this pyramid, but it is uncertain. Who was Cheops, anyhow? All that the world knows about him could be told in a few sentences. The only thing certain is that he was bad and that he shut up the temples of worship and that he was hated so that the Egyptians were glad when he was dead.

This pyramid of rock, seven hundred and forty feet each side of the square base, and four hundred and fifty feet high, wins for him no respect. If a bone of his arm or foot had been found in the sarcophagus beneath the pyramid, it would have excited no more veneration than the skeleton of a camel bleaching on the Libyan desert; yet less veneration, for when I saw the carcass of a camel by the roadside on the way to Memphis, I said to myself, "Poor thing, I wonder what of it died."

We say nothing against the marble or the bronze of the necropolis. Let all that sculpture and fluorescence and arboraceous can do for the places of the dead be done, if means will allow it. But if after one is dead there is nothing left to remind the world of him but some pieces of stone, there is but little left.

Some of the finest monuments are over people who amounted to nothing while they lived, while some of the worthiest men and women have not had above them a stone big enough to tell their name. Joshua, the greatest warrior the world ever saw, no monument; Moses, the greatest lawyer that ever lived, no monument; Herodotus and Pliny sounded my praise. I am old, I am very old. For thousands of years I have watched the coming and going of the dead done, but if they make everlasting impressions, I bear on my side the mark of the trowel and chisel of those who more than four thousand years ago expired. Beware what you do, oh, man, for what you do will last long after you are dead! If you would be affectionately remembered after you are gone, trust not to any earthly commemoration. I have not one word to say about any astronomer who studied the heavens from my heights, or any king who was sepulchred in my bosom. I am slowly passing away. I shall yet lie down in the dust of the plain and the sands of the desert shall cover me, or when the earth goes I will go. But you are immortal. The feet with which you climbed my sides today will turn to dust, but you have a soul that will outlast me and all my brotherhood of pyramids. Live for eternity! Live for God! With the shadows of the evening now falling from my side, I pronounce upon you a benediction. Take it with you across the Mediterranean. Look at me, and you will see all the earth keep silence before him. Amen!"

And then the lips of granite hushed, and the great Giant of Masonry wrapped himself again in the silence of ages, and as I rode away in the gathering twilight this course of sermons was projected.

Wondrous Egypt! Land of ancient pomp and pride. Where many walls by hoary ruin's side, Where plenty reigns and still the seasons smile, And rolls rich gift of God—exhaustless Nile.

MORE THAN THAT.

Sizes was the Republican party repealed over $200,000,000 of taxes, but what kind of taxes? Taxes paid by capital. It repealed the internal tax on the products of manufacturers; it repealed the taxes on the sale of stocks and bonds; it repealed the taxes on incomes. The Republican party has put on the free list all sorts of taxes that cost us money and put a tremendous tax on cattle oil. It raised a tariff on silk stockings, and taxation of high grade cotton stockings. It taxed at a low rate diamonds, and at high rate horse-hides. And so on through the list. The McKinley bill is a rich man's law and a poor man's tax. If every farmer in this Union would get a copy of the McKinley bill, read it, pencil in digest, at the text book desk, and you will find that Democratic party would put in complete control, with orders to do absolutely nothing but the tariff taxation should be for revenue only. And until tariff taxes are for revenue only the farmers of America will get no relief. Depend on that—N. Y. World.

Wrong! From the present indications when the Democratic party gets into power it will have orders to reform the issuing and distributing of money as well as the collection of money.

"THEIR WORKS DO FOLLOW THEM." That desire to be remembered when you die is a divinely implanted desire and not to be overcome. I implore you, seek something better than the immortalization of rock or bronze or book. Put yourself into the eternity of those whom you help for
